Negro Educator To Head Bronx College Mayor Names Larrie Stalks Co-Campaign Mgr.

Trustees Hail Appointment Of Dr. Colston

NEW YORK — Dr. James Allen Colston, president of Knoxville College in Tenn. has been named president of Bronx Community College. Dr. Colston is the first Negro to head a college in New York City and is believed to be the first of his race to head a predominantly, traditionally white college anywhere in the country since 1862.

The appointment, effective Sept. 1, was announced by Gustave G. Rosenberg, chairman of the city's Board of Higher Education, just after the 21-member board formally elected Dr. Colston to the $25,000-a-year post.

Dr. Colston, who is 58 years old, has been president of Knoxville College since 1951. The college has the largest number of Negroes.

The appointment of Dr. Colston was recommended by Benjamin McLaurin who was chairman of a special board committee that screened candidates.

Mr. McLaurin said that 32 candidates were given "intensive consideration" and that 10 were interviewed, resulting in the unanimous choice of Dr. Colston.

Payne Tells Of Destruction Of Campaign Poster

NEWARK — William D. Payne, candidate for South Ward councilman reported Monday that some two hundred of his campaign posters have been torn down from trees and destroyed during the past several days.

Payne said, "There are strong indications that at least one of our opponents has an organized drive to destroy our materials." Payne stated that some of his supporters had seen a group of one candidate's workers destroying his posters on Lyons ave. According to Payne his posters have also been destroyed on Clinton Place, Osborne Terrace, Renner Ave. and other streets. He added that some merchants have been advised to remove his signs from their windows.

In addition to signs being destroyed, Payne said that the window of one of his workers was shattered by a shot from an air rifle. He said he has received at least one telephone call from a person who used vulgar language and strongly suggested that he drop out of the south ward race.

Payne stated that he and his supporters refuse to stoop into the gutter in their efforts to win the council seat. "We hope decency and integrity will prevail in this campaign," said Payne. "I simply don't believe

Mrs. Larrie Stalks Represents Negro Woman Leadership

NEWARK — Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio announced the appointment of four co-campaign managers to assist campaign manager Paul Reilly.

Those named last week were Mrs. Larrie West Stalks, executive secretary of the City Planning Board, former state senator C. Robert Sarcone, realtor Anthony Fazos and city corporation counsel Norman N. Schiff.

Commenting on her appointment, Mrs. Stalks said that it was both an honor and a challenge to make certain the candidate's story is told to all the people. Regarding the campaign slogan, "A Mayor for all the people," Mrs. Stalks stressed the need for growing potential to their stake in the city's future.

West Offers Plan To Keep Newark Clean

NEWARK — Calvin D. West, candidate for councilman-at-large in the Newark May 10th election announced a plan here Monday to set up a Youth Sanitation Corps in the city according to a statement issued by his campaign manager, Eugene H. Thompson.

In announcing the plan, West said the corps would be composed of trainees from the Neighborhood Youth Corps in Newark along with high school students who would work with the present sanitation department in beautifying the city.

West said the corps would not only beef up the present sanitation department but would provide experience for unskilled dropouts as gains for students seeking employment after school hours and during the summer.

"This plan would also help to keep Newark clean because many areas in the city are not properly cleaned by the present sanitation department's workers," West said.

West said brochures would also be distributed by the Youth workers to residents throughout the city encouraging them to cooperate in keeping the city clean. He also pointed out the plan would also attract some youth

Negro Press Is Established Business Entity

LOUISVILLE, KY. — The Negro Press is one the largest and most important elements in Negro business economy today and its continuing growth is one of the great success stories of modern history. Begun 139 years ago, in March 1827, under the founding of "Freedom's Journal", the Negro Press has continued to grow, Frank L. Stanley, Publisher of the Louisville Defender and President of the National Newspaper Publishers Association, stated in announcing National Newspaper Week, March 18-23.

Meet Held To Support 4 Negroes Failed

Members Moved To Obstruct Naming Four

NEWARK — The Independent Citizens Committee Alliance organized by Charles E. Holmes, Newark Community leader and William (Bill) Ricks, veteran militant labor leader, for the express purpose of appointing a screening committee to select two Negro candidates for Ward Councilman and two for Newark Councilman-at-Large meeting at John T. Barnes' office 21 West Market street here Wednesday of last week failed to reach an accord among those present.

Both Ricks and Holmes repeatedly took to the floor to make clear to some of the candidates and supporters present that it was not the intent of the Committee to commit itself to more than four Negro candidates for the reason that there was every reason to believe the Committee and its supporters could be reasonably sure of putting four Negroes in Newark Councilman seats.

Candidates present and their supporters were critical of the idea on the basis that they might not be among the four selected by the screening committee and thus they proceeded to obstruct the functioning of the meeting. Edward Gilbert, who recently resigned as West Ward County Committeeman also a candidate for councilman from the West Ward acted as secretary.

Edward Andrade and Ernie Thomas, veteran labor leader and rights leader represented the Committee for Negro Progress in 66. Others who were present were Rev. B. R. Cantrell, who stated that he was not present as a representative of the local branch of the NAACP. Others were Rony Kirkland, L. C. Roberts, Otis King, candidate for Mayor and his supporters; Mitchell Steele, Richard Hamilton, Walter P. Lewis, Jr., Rev. Leroy Roberts, Morris Parker, aide to Eulis Ward, chairman of the Newark Central Ward and Noah Marshall, also an aide to Mr. Ward and Timothy Sull, community leader.

Marshall at one point in the meeting demanded to know where some of the so call candidates now asking for the support of the people of the community when the big registration drives were under way throughout the city and especially the Central Ward where he was a part of the organization that had put thousands of Negroes on the voting rolls, of Essex County.

Mr. Holmes who presided at the meeting said that the Committee had the endorsement of the N. J. Urban League of Essex County, Newark Office of Core, Eulis C. Ward, chairman Central Ward Democratic committee, Timothy Still, Community leader, Mrs. Larry W. Stalks, Executive Secretary of Newark Planning Board and other prominent citizens of Newark. Holmes was the former 6th District Director C. I. O. Political Action Committee and Mr. Ricks is a labor official of the United Packing House and Allied Food Workers Union, AFI & CIO.

Young Criticizes Guide Lines For Desegregation

NEW YORK — "The National Urban League views the 1966 guidelines announced by the U. S. Office of Education, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, for enforcing desegregation of southern schools with mixed emotions. The specific steps required by the new guidelines - integration of facilities; abolition of small, inadequate schools maintained exclusively for Negroes; and the elimination of 'freedom of choice' plans unless they demonstrate significant results - are, in and of themselves, of critical importance.

"The crux of the matter, however, lies in the amount of money Congressional appropriations committees will allocate to enforcement of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the amount of staff the Department of Health, Education and Welfare will assign to ensure compliance.

"At present, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare report of the U. S. Civil Rights Commission as woefully inadequate in enforcement.

"Title VI categorically requires withholding federal funds where discriminatory practice persists. At present, 12 years after the Supreme Court's 1954 decision requiring integration of the schools, and two years after passage of the Civil Rights Act, only 7 percent of Negro students are attending integrated schools in the 11 southern states; 2 percent in the five states of the deep South. In his news conference yesterday, Education Commissioner Harold Howe 2nd lines will only serve to double estimated that the 1966 guidelines the present degree of integration in the South.

"In our view, it is also unfortunate that the Department has taken an immediate stand on de facto segregation in the North.

"Paper compliance," North or South. It is the responsibility of South, is no longer to be tolerated. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare to obtain full and rapid compliance. All the necessary tools exist in the law."

ments. One spokesman for the Pentagon suggested it was perhaps a measure of Negro valor in combat.

It was also stated that from a combination of factors, chiefly the high proportion of Negro volunteers in combat outfits.

With increased opportunities many of them have made careers of the service and won an increasing number of assignments as noncommissioned officers.

Defense officials said the survey was undertaken because of many requests for information that had developed in recent weeks.

Some members of Congress were reported to have filed inquiries for their constituents based on rumors that Negroes were being given a disproportionate share of dangerous assignments.

Officials said they were aware of complaints by civil rights groups that Negroes were being compelled to fight in a war overseas to assure democratic rights abroad that were denied Negroes in the United States.

The subject was raised during the recent closed hearings on the $12.3-billion military supplemental appropriations request for Vietnam. General Wheeler said that in certain airborne units, the proportion of Negro soldiers ran as high as 18 per cent, compared with 13 or 14 per cent in most other military units.

Some estimates at the Pentagon placed the Negro percentage even higher than 18 per cent in such airborne units as the 173d Airborne Brigade, the 101st Infantry Division and the three battalions of the First Cavalry Division (Airmobile). These units, composed of a large number of paratroop volunteers, have been involved in heavy fighting with the Vietcong. The Marine Corps units also engaged in heavy battles are composed largely of volunteers.

Officials pointed out that Negroes had been volunteering for military service in increasing numbers in recent years and, having made good careers in uniform, had been re-enlisting at a high rate.

It was said, run about three times as high as white re-enlistments. In 1964, according to the latest available count, Army re-enlistment figures showed 49.3 per cent of Negro servicemen signing up for a second tour of duty, compared with 18.5 per cent for whites.

Some detailed figures on deaths in Vietnam for the five-year period that ended Dec. 31, 1965, have been issued. They are as follows:

Army — 1,078 (213 officers and 865 enlisted men), of which six officers an d181 enlisted men were Negroes, or 18.3 per cent of the total Army force in Vietnam.

Marine Corps — 346 (37 officers and 309 enlisted men), of which two officers and 37 enlisted men were Negroes, or 11.3 per cent.

Navy — could not give exact figures but estimated that its forces in Vietnam and offshore with the Seventh Fleet included about 500 Negroes, of whom one had been killed in Vietnam.

Air Force — had 906 Negroes in Vietnam at the end of 1965, or 8.3 per cent of the total force, with none killed in the fighting.

Pentagon officials emphasized that because the size of the armed forces in Vietnam totaled only about 25,000 at the beginning of 1965 and that most of the heavy fighting had occurred only in recent months, it would be wrong to draw firm conclusions from any statistics as yet.

finances and what additional ordinances should be passed to prevent similar distributions in the future," Gordon said.

Gordon notified Newark police Saturday that an "outdated issue of a Klan publication was being passed out to homes in the East Ward."

"We will not allow Newark to become a dumping ground for scurrilous, offensive and inflammatory material that all decent people shun," Gordon said.

He said the Klan material "reeked with bigotry and smell of dangerous half-truths."

Gordon said "the KKK articles are shamelessly anti-Catholic, anti-Negro, anti-Jewish and anti-American and make a mockery of democratic principles as we know and practice them in the East Ward and in the city of Newark."

"DOC" WILSON THE MAN WHO KNOWS

Dear Doc' Wilson — CHICAGO
I am involved with an old married man. Our ages are far apart. I am 29, and he is 69. When I met him, he told me that he was not married and we could be friends until the real thing came along for me. I have tried to beak with him several times, but it never works. He follows me wherever I go. When I go to work, he follows me, peeping at me carrying on. This man is good to me, but I want to get rid of him once and for all. He is messing up my life. Some people you get involved with are just bad luck. I am out of work now, so I need some luck. Doc', I am desperate, so I will appreciate any advice you give.

ANSWER:

You started your affair with him because you needed money, and you need him more now than you did then. If you wish to break it apart, you can leave town, take a sleep-in job, or get married to another fellow. My advice is: Stick around until the weather gets warm. Never "make tracks" when it's cold, especially when you're wearing "easy walkers".

Dear Doc' Wilson — JAMAICA
About two weeks ago I wrote you telling you that I had a subscriber to your newspaper for over 2 years, but sent you a check just the same so that paper could be delivered to my home. I received the first edition last week. This is fine, but I also asked you aid in other problems. I guess you forgot or is this just something to get the Negro public to become readers of your paper. I noticed also you have a few white readers. Now Doc' do you plan to help me as I have asked you to, or is it wrong to love or want someone without getting his love in return. I am in love with someone who loves someone else. I look forward to any kind of answer

ANSWER:

You seem to know everything else, I can't understand why you can't answer the last question too. If it will help, I will loan you one of my old Crystal Balls

Dear Doc' Wilson—White Plains
Please help me, I am a lonely woman. I have 2 children. I can't keep a man. Have I been fixed by anyone? I would like to meet and marry a kind hearted, hard working man with a mustache. I also want a salary raise. I know you can do the job if you want too. Oh yes, please change my luck from bad to good. I was born August 10th 1900.

Gad has already blessed you with good health, and two grown children. I think Mother Nature put the fix on you. She does some strange things to you when you yore "up there". At 65 it's hard to fin a man, and twice as hard to hold him. You want him kind hearted, that's so you can get that money. I guess you want him with a mustache so he can tickle you. Anyway, if I could find one who had all those things I'd give him to my sister. Shes an old dud who needs a new stud

"CONNECTICUT DAY"

I have proclaimed Sunday March 20th Connecticut Day here at the House of Good Fortune. I "won't be able to visit Hartford as I had planned so everybody from Stamford, Bridgeport, Stratford, New Haven, Ansonia, and all other towns are welcome here. This invitation is extended to Yonkers, Mt. Vernon, White Plains, New Rochelle and Newburgh. The good times will roll "So Come On Down".

The reason why I can't keep my date is because my secretary made early appointments with people coming here from Virginia, Baltimore, So. Carolina, West Virginia and Rochester N.Y. Anyway we are going to have a "Blessing Ball, so join us.

Dear Doc' Wilson—ORLANDO
My daughter, she is going with a no-good man that treats her like a dog, fights her, and takes all of her money. He has even got her turned against me, her mother. She won't help me with the house and won't give me a penny for keeping her children. I want to know can you get her away from him, and run him out of her life.

ANSWER:

Your daughter just might like the sapping-up-she's getting. Your daughter is a slut. If there was any good in her she wouldn't be giving you and the children the un-sanitary end of the stick. I will do all I can to help you and the children, and fast too. Don't try to put her in the hands of the Lord for she is comfortable sleeping in the arms of the Devil.

ALWAYS THERE

Have you Yet Prayed About it Friend
Have you wondered what is best
Have you placed the matter in his hands
And did you leave to him, the rest
The Load is lifted when you pray
Your heart will lose its sigh
You can place all in his hands
For he is always standing by

Dear Doc' Wilson —
I've been reading about that "Black Cat Bone Oil". Do you thing it will do me any good. I have a bad case of bad luck.

ANSWER:

An aspirin is the greatest contribution in medicine I can think of, but the average person doesn't think so just because it doesn't cost a fortune. When the cat humps his back, watch out, things are read yo happen. It is a spendid anointing oil for "drawing".

reason to be battling Clay come March 29th than Cassius Clay had for broadcasting those ugly remarks. Oddsmakers rate Clay a 5 to 1 shot to whip Chuvale and justly so — Chuvale simply hasn't the ability. One would be surprised to know the large numbers of boxing experts who were riding on the Ernie Terrell bandwagon when he signed to box Clay. Clay's physical condition, his mental attitude and overweight it was felt gave Terrell an excellent chance to whip him. We recommend a national boxing czar or commission to be formulated to save professional boxing from complete destruction — the game is sinking rapidly.

CIRCLING THE SPORTS BEAT: Don Heffner, manager of the Cincinnati Reds writes us saying he's extremely happy to be the pilot of the Reds — the biggest break he ever received in life. Incidentally we believe the Cincy Reds have an excellent chance to win the National League pennant if the pitching holds up. . . . Heffner urges youngsters who have the ability to concentrate on baseball — give it 100 percent and try to click in the major leagues, it is the best of life. Horace Clark the New York Yankee infielder is a good hitter and looms as the eventual replacement for Bobby Richardson at the keystone sack. Cleon Jones still has a fine chance to click in the Mets' outfield all he has to do is hit consistently — he showed signs in spring training workouts of vast improvement. We agree with the players in the National Basketball Association that Wilt Chamberlain is the most valuable player in the circuit. Big Wilt has developed into a tremendous player — can shoot from all angles, his fadeaway shot is ready, he's learned to rebound, he passes well, is strong on defense and is a fine team player. . . . Don't look for the Boston Celtics to win the NBA title next season.

— they're growing old and can't cut the mustard anymore.

New York City has also ran teams in the N.Y. Mets, N.Y. Yankees, N.Y. Knicks and the N.Y. Rangers but doggone they spread eagle the field when it comes to crack sport columnists. Such writers as Jimmy Cannon, Murray Robinson, Dave Eisenberg, TH Ferdenzi of the N.Y. Journal American, Arthur Daley of the N.Y. Times, Milton Gross, Al Buck, and Gene Rogwell of the N.Y. Post, Joe King, Bob Stewart, Lawrence Robinson of the N.Y. World Telegram & Sun are the absolute tops.

The New York Mets appear to have a stronger attack this season with Dick Stuart, Ken Boyer, Ron Hunt, Ron Swoboda and Ed Kranepool swinging the lumber. If the Mets can muster a sound pitching staff from the youngsters they'll escape the cellar. The N.Y. Yankees are a definite question mark with weak pitching and an unsettled outfield.

The college, which now occupies the former Bronx High School of Science building at 120 East 104th Street, is scheduled to move to a new campus in the next few years.

Like other community colleges, the Bronx institution offers two types of programs; a liberal arts transfer program, which is taken largely by students who hope to complete their undergraduate education at a senior college; and a career-oriented program, which prepares students for technical, technological, semi-professional and business work.

Dr. Colston, who was born in Quincy, Fla., received his bachelor's degree from Morehouse College in Atlanta, his master's from New York University.

Before going to Knoxville, he was president of the Georgia State College at Savannah and Bethune-Cookman College in Daytona Beach, Fla.

According to the United States Negro College Fund, there are two colleges with Negro presidents that have more white students than Negroes. Originally all-Negro, the institutions are West Virginia State College and Bluefield State College in West Virginia.

The current condition of professional boxing can be attributed to the influx of greedy in experienced promoters, politically controlled state boxing commissioners and sub par boxers. The phases leading up to George Chuvale the Canadian heavyweight champion getting a shot at Cassius Clay's noggin was downright disgraceful. After innumerable cities turned down the bout due to Cassius Clay's silly brash unpatriotic remarks the Maple Leaf Gardens Arena secured the bout only after they sandbagged the promoters into inserting George Chuvale and not Ernie Terrell as the opponent. They simply refused to guarantee Terrell any flat guarantee or expense money for his training session. They knew that Terrell as badly as he wanted to get into the ring with Clay would not stand for that. With Terrell outside looking in, it was easy to persuade the promoters with the right date rapidly drawing near to agree to George Chuvale as the opponent. Chuvale has no more

An Editorial:

A Deserving Honor

President Johnson during the short period which he has occupied the White House, has appointed more Negroes to major positions than probably all of the other presidents combined. The President has done this with such regularity that any further praise of him editorially his continuing to reward Negro ability is increasingly might seem redundant. The fact remains however, that praiseworthy. But when he steps out of the normal routine and makes unprecedented appointments of Negroes, it is certainly worthy of the highest accolade that we can give him.

President Johnson's naming of Andrew W. Brimmer to the Federal Reserve Board is a significant milestone in the struggle for broader recognition of Negro ability.

The seven-man Federal Reserve Board is a regulatory commission which strongly influences interest rates and the availability of credit to the American economy. Last December, this board had a head-on clash with the President by asserting its independence and voting narrowly 4 to 3 for high interest rates. The President openly criticized the board at that time. This means that he not only is vitally concerned but he is particularly careful of whom he names to its membership. Mr. Brimmer's appointment is not to be regarded however, as one designed to improve the President's position. Although the appointee is generally viewed as a moderate — somewhere between a liberal and conservative position, such portends that in all probability, he like the others, will support tighter money and higher interest rates under some conditions.

On the other hand scholarly Mr. Brimmer has spent most of his career in both academic life and public service. He has also served for three years on the research staff of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

The chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, William H. McChesney Martin, Jr. in praising Brimmer's appointment said:

"Mr. Brimmer achieved a very commendable record as a member of the Economic Research staff of the Federal Reserve Bank during the fifties, and I believe that he can be counted upon to build further upon that record, in his service as a member of the board, especially in view of the experience he has gained as assistant secretary of commerce and working in the difficult problem the nation's balance payments."

It can be clearly seen then, that not only has the President made a very excellent but a most significant appointment in Andrew Brimmer. Viewed in the context of his other historical appointments such as: the recent naming of Dr. Robert C. Weaver as secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development; Dr. James Nabrit to the United Nations; Mrs. Constance B. Motley as U.S. District Judge plus other too numerous to enumerate here — all of these show that the President not only recognizes superior ability but he continuously does so at the exclusion of race and color.

While all of his prior appointments of Negroes were history-making and precedent-setting the recent elevation of Andrew Brimmer to the Federal Reserve Board has the broadest possible meaning.

This newspaper, as a member of the National Newspaper Publishers Association which within the past ten months has twice had occasion to confer with President Johnson and recommend on each visit, the naming of more Negroes to federal regulatory commissions — now expresses to him our gratitude not only for fulfilling our request but for breaking the color barrier on one of the most important federal bodies in our nation.

When we have a place of employment where we are using our God-given talents and abilities to the best of our knowledge, we are happy. We are blessed in doing work that needs to be done. We find satisfaction in accomplishing given tasks. We are prospered. We fulfill our God-given purpose. The person who works because he feels he must work does not reap rewards that are found by the person who knows he is giving the best of himself.

Whether we are in need of employment or considering a change in employment, let us make prayer our first step. Let us ask God to guide us to the place of service where we can devote our full interest. When we pray before we take our steps, God guides us in right and perfect ways. As we trust God and seek His help, we go forth in confidence that we are going in the right direction. We take steps that lead us to the place of service where we are happy and blessed.

Wherever you go, whatever you do, whomever you meet, you go with God; you work with God; you find God in all those whose lives touch yours today.

You are important to God; you contribute to His world; you are a necessary part of His plan and purpose; His creation. Do not think that your life is unimportant, that you do not have much to offer, that you are not needed and wanted. God has need of you, just as you are, just where you are. He needs your loving heart; He needs your faith-filled thoughts. He needs you to serve Him in ways that you may not have thought of as meaningful. You are important to God, every hour, every minute of your life; and more than this, you are beloved of God. His love is always with you; He has written His name in your heart; He has given you His Spirit.

Take this thought with you today: "I am important to God. I am needed by Him; I am part of His plan and purpose; I am beloved by Him."

I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with loving kindness have I drawn thee.—Jer.31:3.

CALLING ALL TRUSTEES
Three proposed antipoverty programs totalling an estimated $450,000 will come before the United Community Corporation Board of Trustees this week. (Newark New Jersey) March 17th 1966 at 8 p.m.

One of the programs, High School Head Start to be conducted by Seton Hall University, is a repeat of an award-winning project the university completed last summer.

This summer, according to Dr. Albert W. Reiners, project director some 200 Newark youths, including 75 who participated last year, are expected to take part in the six-week, $100,000 program of reading, mathematics, and language arts skills, and cultural enrichment.

The children will come from eighth grade classes in Newark public and parochial schools. They will be recruited through the UCC Area Boards.

The program will also include pre-service training for June 1966 college graduates scheduled to take up teaching duties in September. The institute is designed to introduce beginning teachers to the culture, personality, and learning characteristics of the disadvantaged.

final approval on community. The UCC board, which has action programs funded locally by the Office of Economic Opportunity, will also consider two new programs. One, Operation Salvage, is a longrange program aimed at raising cultural educational aspirations of some 150 Negro youth from Newark's hard core impacted areas.

Ninth grade students usually from families receiving welfare, will be eligible for the program, according to the proposal. They will remain in the program through completion of high school. During this time they will attend lectures, discussions, field trips and debates of Negro culture, history, development and problems. In addition, educational guidance will be provided.

Estimated cost of Operation Salvage, which is to be conducted in a settlement house or neighborhood center setting, is a $120,000.

The third proposal is a $234,000 counseling, guidance, testing and placement component for the recently funded UCC on job-training program for 500 persons between 17 and 40.

These services, states the proposal, will help to locate persons suited to training situations and ameliorate some of the problems facing the unemployed and underemployed who make up the severely impacted of Newark.

Matthews, Ward Turner Easter Seal Directors

NEWARK — Freeholder, Director Charles A. Matthews, Ellis Ward, chairman of the Central Ward Democrat Committee and Irvine I. Turner, candidate for reelection as Central Ward Councilman as directors of the Newark Easter Seal Parade for 1966, made the following announcement this week to citizens of the city:

Gripping, last year, prevented some 23 million Americans from leading what is termed a "normal" life. That is to say, it kept some of them from sitting at a desk in the neighborhood public school and sharing the magic of learning with other children; it eliminated some from challenging in business and industry; it barred others from the deep satisfaction of caring for a young family; and it denied countless core, the enjoyment of church, library, sports, and entertainment.

In short, crippling of one kind or another — and there are many kinds — in a marked degree, limited the lives of these millions of our boys and girls, men and women. Fifteen of every one hundred of our fellow Americans are among those deprived of these important privileges and opportunities through no fault of their own.

But crippling did something more as well. It robbed our nation of a vast resource of abilities, talents, and possibly even genius, inhibited in these persons because of the physical fact of a disability — a disability that in most instances can be overcome, or at least counterbalanced by appropriate treatment.

It is the mission of the Easter Seal Society to enable these crippled to realize their fullest intellectual and physical potentialities, to release captive capabilities, and thus to help them live lives of dignity and usefulness in their own communities.

With this in mind, we appeal to you, our fellow citizens, to support the 1966 Essex County Easter Seal Parade. From March 1st to April 10th, over 6,000 volunteers will parade in a door-to-door campaign throughout the County. Over 150,000 letters will go out to those homes not canvassed by volunteers. Please contribute generously when your turn comes. Remember, your donations will change the lives of crippled children and adults who are counting upon you.

While Matthews is reported to be progressing satisfactorily and may this week be released from the hospital, his doctors have advised against participating in the convention, which will open March 21 at Rutgers University in New Brunswick.

Matthews signed a letter of resignations as a delegate last Thursday at the hospital, where he was visited by Cohen and Mrs. Rita McDonald, vice chairman of the Essex County Democratic Committee.

Action Soon On Vacancy

The Essex Democrat Committee on vacancies is expected to meet soon to appoint Cohen to fill Matthews' delegate seat. The committee is comprised of Essex Democratic Chairman Dennis F. Carey, Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Ceil Durkin, Democratic vice chairman of Newark's North Ward.

The 126 delegates to the convention are divided equally between Democrats and Republicans. The absence of one delegate could tip the balance to the opposite party on a key vote.

Cohen is a former secretary to the director of public safety at City Hall and served as county adjuster and assistant county counsel prior to his election as a freeholder in 1962. He was re-elected to a new three-year term last November.

A graduate of Rutgers Law School and a practicing attorney in Newark since 1935, Cohen is with the law firm of Barr, Kaplus and Cohen. He is a resident of Newark.

March 31 is the last day you can sign up for Medicare Plan B

Who is eligible? Just about everyone 65 or over is eligible for Medicare Plan B. It makes no difference whether you are retired or not, or whether you are covered by social security or not.

What does it cover? Plan B has nothing to do with paying your hospital bills (they're covered by Plan A). Plan B helps you pay doctor's bills and other related medical costs, such as:

- Physician's and surgeon's fees in and out of the hospital
- Up to 100 nursing visits to your home
- Diagnostic tests
- Rental of medical equipment

What does it cost? The cost is $3.00 per month per person. Take Prudential's word for it—Plan B is a real bargain. But in order to get coverage when the plan goes into effect, you must sign up by March 31, 1966.

What about Plan A? If you are already receiving social security benefits, you are automatically enrolled for Plan A. And you don't have to pay an extra amount for this protection.

Medicare—Plan A and Plan B—won't actually go into effect until July 1. For the full facts about Medicare—Plan A and Plan B—write or visit your nearest Social Security office. And, if there's anything your Prudential agent can do, let him know.

And don't forget—If you are under 65, your Prudential Agent has health plans which will fit your needs.

Garden State Holds Pace With Nation In All Spheres

Jersey is holding its own in cultural civic and national affairs. The world's largest rose growers, the Jackson and Perkins Company of Newark is holding its own in the 49th International Flower Show at the New York 59th Street Coliseum. Making their debut is the John F. Kennedy, a pure white hybrid tea named as a living memorial to the late President. The theme of this year's show is "Planting Keeps America Beautiful." The International Flower Show is sponsored by The Horticultural Society of New York and the New York Florists' Club. John F. Edwards, West Milford, N. J. and Irving K. Christensen, Woodbridge are among show officers at the most colorful and electrifying display of nature in all its glory enhanced by the arrangements in over 46 gardens.

The inspirational new program on Natural Beautification, sponsored by President and Mrs. Johnson, and actively promoted by the First Lady, is strongly felt in the overall atmosphere of this largest of all Flower Shows. Jerseyans are well represented in The Coliseum Antiques Fair which is in an adjoining hall next door to the International Flower Show. Some 150 exhibits appeal to both new and true collectors.

Montclair will host two Antique Fairs come May 23 thru 27 by the Women's Club of Upper Montclair and again at the Cooper Avenue quarters September 19 thru 23 bringing wares and dealers to the Garden State on these dates.

"Graham Crackers" has followed and covered many of these Fairs for years and is aware that much valuable material sold at a price is languishing in our attics or basement which might well bring a fortune. Attend these shows and become alert to your values covered with dust and years of neglect.

Negro Press

ago to further explain the role of Negro-oriented newspapers in American life.

Negro newspapers have successfully withstood three formidable competitors during the past century - the white press, radio and television. It was often predicted that each would be the doom of Negro papers. Instead, the Negro press has consistently emerged stronger, with greater vitality and with more readers, more advertisers and rendering greater service to the public than ever before.

Second only to Negro-owned insurance companies newspaper publishing ranks high among Negro business achievement. Like its counterparts in the great American press, Negro newspapers, last year hit all-time highs in circulation thus contributing to the increased consumption of newsprint which was the highest ever.

Newspaper employment generally since 1947 has grown three and one half times faster than all manufacturing and journalism school enrollment nationally is at its highest point since 1948, indicating a solid faith in the future of newspapers on the part of young people. In keeping with the growth of other media Negro newspapers have made increasing investments in new plants, new equipment and improved services. Many of them have swung to the method of printing Offset which required disposing of hot-metal type of printing facilities.

Unlike many businesses newspapers receive no grants, no government subsidies and must be self supporting. Every newspaper is built on solvency because economic independence is essential to the preservation of a free press in an open and free society. This is especially true of the Negro press which because of its leadership in the fight for full civil rights has, on occasion suffered from prejudiced advertisers. But in line with improved racial conditions and the extension of rights to American Negroes, the Negro press, likewise has added many new advertisers and readers and thus is in a better financial position today than at any point in its history.

In citing the value of the Negro press to American democracy and more particularly to its readers, Stanley observes that "no real important interracial progress has been wrought without their active participation and assistance and no significant progress of the future is going to be made without the leadership and full support of the Negro press."

"From its inception," Stanley says, "the Negro press has been the freest of all segments of the American press because it has only advocated freedom for Negroes but crusades in behalf of all people." "Thus Negro newspapers," Stanley continues, "Are true partners in freedom with their readers."

"The Negro press is the greatest preserver of the American freedoms, that there is: its owners and publishers are usually too dedicated to be bought and unlike other editors, they are not only concerned but personally involved enough to roll up their sleeves and join the fray."

Truly the Negro press represents the most real journalistic freedom left in the world today. It wields an accumulated power and is one of the most moving forces in the struggle for freedom of the Negro people."

Conyers Against Tax Program That Hits Poor

Antioch College, Ohio — "During the last few weeks we seem to have shifted towards a public policy of making the poor pay double for the Vietnam War, both by reducing the programs designed to free them from the vicious cycle of poverty and by increasing the taxes which fall most heavily upon the poor," declared Congressman John Conyers, Jr. (Dem-Michigan) here last week in a speech for delivery before the Antioch College Public Policy Seminar.

"Drastic cutbacks have previously been announced in the Federal school lunch and milk impacted area school aid, rural electrification, school construction, and the Appalachia program," said Conyers. "On Tuesday, the Federal anti-poverty Congress announcing plans for agency submitted a report to a 20 per cent cut in the effort to eliminate adult illiteracy, known as Project Read, and a 66 2/3 per cent cut in program development for the anti-poverty community action programs. And just three days after President Johnson ordered new and expanded measures to provide summer jobs for unemployed youths, the anti-poverty program announced that the number of enrollees in the Neighborhood Youth Corps will be reduced though that is the main Federal program providing jobs for unemployed young people."

Tuesday's report by the Office of Economic Opportunity stated, "The hostilities in Vietnam have forced the President to slow down the War on Poverty temporarily." "The slow down will not be temporary, but permanent," declared Conyers, "if we continue increasing our military involvement in South-east Asia. The annual statement of our Defense posture released three weeks ago revealed plans for 112,000 more troops for the Armed Forces within the next four months because of the continued Vietnam War."

Veterans GI Bill Explained By Minish

WASHINGTON — Approximately 4,200 veterans in New Jersey's 12th Congressional District are potentially eligible for benefits and services under the new GI Bill just signed by President Johnson, Congressman Joseph G. Minish said Monday.

The new GI Bill provides education and training programs generally postponed after the highly successful GI Bill of World War II and the Korean Conflict. Rep. Minish was a sponsor of the legislation.

The Congressman pointed out that in the last year alone over 100 veterans are expected to take advantage of the educational provisions is expected to provide the veterans in the district about $200,000 in direct benefits in that last year, according to Congressman Minish.

All veterans are eligible for educational and guaranteed home loan benefits who were on active duty more than 180 days after January 31, 1955, and honorably discharged, or who were discharged with less than 180 days service because of a service-incurred disability.

Under the education and training sections, monthly payments for full time training are $100 for veterans without dependents.

$125 for veterans with one dependent.

$150 for veterans with more than one dependent.

Painters Take Stand Against U.S. Committee

NEW YORK — A group of Negro artists numbering ten in all withdrew their works from an exhibition at the First World Festival of Negro Arts, scheduled to open in Dakar, Senegal, next month.

In a dispute with the United States committee for the festival, the artists said that the original budgetary committee, the artists said that the festival to the artists has been drastically curtailed with increasing emphasis on the performing arts.

Their complaints were contained in telegrams sent to Leopold Senghor, President of Senegal; Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, honorary chairman of the United States committee, and committee officials.

Mrs. Virginia Inness-Brown, committee president, said that she had not yet received the telegram, but declared, "These negotiations are not concluded. The door is still open as far as we are concerned."

The artists said that Mrs. Inness-Brown had not appeared for a scheduled meeting with them last Saturday. She said she had not been able to return from Washington by air because of the weather and was late for the conference.

Romare Bearden, one of the artists, said that the art committee of the American unit had set $7,500 aside for awards and "honorariums." This, he said, was later withdrawn.

Mr. Bearden stressed that the artists were not primarily motivated by a desire for money but said that although this is a festival of Negro Arts, "there are principles here that apply to all artists."

Three of the dissenting artists were also on the selection committee. Mr. Bearden said that two choices made by the committee members had been overridden by the chairman, Mrs. Lawrence Copley Thaw.

In addition to Mr. Bearden, the painters who have taken their works away from the committee are Charles Alston, Norman Lewis, William Majors, Richard Mayhew, Richard Reid, Jacob Lawrence, Charles White, Raymond Saunders and Prof. Hale Woodruff of New York University.

The committee plans to send a delegation of 100 Negro performers, writers and technicians to the festival in addition to the exhibition of works by Negro artists.

The United States is contributing $150,000 through the State Department, the United States Information Agency and the Agency for International Development. However, 7450,000 must be raised from private, business or foundation sources.
